We're focusing on family fun and fitness this summer at APL!

SUMMER READING PROGRAM

FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

One of my favorite things about summer in Albany is walking in our community. Albany truly is a walkable city, with just about everything you need within a reasonable distance. Nothing exemplifies that more than our library's model of branch service, which provides seven neighborhood libraries.

I cannot wait to take my family for summer evening and Saturday afternoon strolls, with the main destination being one of the two public libraries only a 10- or 15-minute walk from our home. It is an even quicker bike ride! (And if you happen to have a mishap along the way, you can repair your bike at Bicycle Fixit Stations at some of our branches.) My kids and I may even hop on a CDTA bus on those rainy or hot August days. With all of our branches on bus lines, we're making plans for you to be able to replenish your Navigator card bus pass while at the library.

Libraries are fantastic in the summer. Sure, we have fun activities and interesting programs, but for many friends and neighbors the libraries are a shelter from the heat and humidity. Libraries also provide entertainment to those kids who might have a little too much free time on their hands. And, those family walks to and from the neighborhood branch library are a good way to expend extra energy and tire kids out.

We are also here to help promote reading as a way to stop what we refer to as the summer slide. Kids who don't read and meaningfully engage their minds over the summer often slide back in terms of reading scores when they get back to school in the fall. Our summer reading program is designed to keep books in kids' hands, even when school is out. We are so invested in this notion of preventing the summer slide through reading that we will be doing a study with the Albany Promise to find the best way to tackle what is a nationwide problem.

For those of you going on trips this summer, don't forget to check out our collection of audiobooks for kids and adults. Download our app for eBooks and eAudiobooks to load up your tablet or phone. If you are going on a weekend trip to enjoy the great outdoors, you may want to grab a fishing pole or maybe borrow one of our WiFi-enabled tablets so you check those work or personal e-mails while in the wilderness. The library is here for you all year 'round, but we go out of our way to be your education and entertainment destination during the summer.

Have a great and safe summer!

Executive Director

LOCAL HISTORY

Albany History Running Tour

Explore 2.5 miles of historic downtown Albany as a pair of running librarians lead you and a small group of participants on a narrated history run through our city! If you can comfortably run an 11-minute mile (5.5 mph) over two-and-a-half miles, you'll have no problem keeping up. We'll take three short breaks at historic points along the way. Lace up your sneakers and bring headphones (or you can borrow some APL headphones). We'll provide a digital audio player you hold while running so you can listen to a narrated audio tour of the historic spots we pass. The tour was developed from information gathered in APL's Pruyne Collection of Albany History, local history blogs, and other resources.

We'll run in light rain, but have rain dates scheduled in case we have storms during our original run times. Rain dates are the very next day at the same time. Registration is required and can be done online or by emailing localhistory@albanypubliclibrary.org. For adults.

FRIENDS OF APL BOOK TALKS

The Friends of Albany Public Library host regular book reviews, author talks, and special presentations every Tuesday at 12:15 pm at the Washington Ave. Branch.

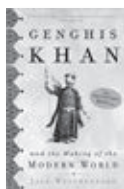

You can keep up with Friends news on Facebook. Search for Friends of Albany Public Library.

July 5—Book Review

The Worlds of Sholem Aleichem: The Remarkable Life and Afterlife of the Man Who Created Tevye by Jeremy Dauber

"Dauber celebrates his hero's ups and downs...in terms that mimic the chatty narrative of...so many of Sholem Aleichem's tongue-in-cheek tales of lovable rouses and fools," according to the Wall Street Journal. The reviewer is Joseph Krausman, a retired policy analyst, poet, and teacher.

July 12—Book Review

Genghis Khan and the Making of the Modern World by Jack Weatherford

APL Executive Director Scott Jarzombek reviews the book, which Kirkus Reviews said "restores the Mongol's reputation, and it takes wonderful learned detours...well written and full of surprises."

July 19—Book Review

Spain in our Hearts: Americans in the Spanish Civil War, 1936-1939 by Adam Hochschild

New York Times Review said the author assembles "a well-chosen set of individual narratives, many about figures who are relatively unknown, [and] captures why so many people thought the fate of the world might be decided by who won the conflict." The reviewer is Gene Damm, past president of the Friends of APL.

July 26—Book Review

A Thread Across the Ocean: The Heroic Story of the Transatlantic Cable by John Steele Gordon

The author is "a business historian, skillfully and briskly recounts the saga of the transatlantic telegraph project" according to Booklist. David Colchamiro, retired transportation analyst, reviews the book.

Aug. 2—Book Review

The Brothers Vonnegut: Science and Fiction in the House of Magic by Ginger Gail Strand

"Strand has unearthed a little-known, complex story about science and politics that touches on big questions about ethics and progress," according to the San Francisco Chronicle. Justin Minder, a professor at University at Albany's Department of Atmospheric and Environmental Sciences, reviews the book.

Aug. 9—Author Talk

Darryl McGrath on Flight Paths: A Field Journal of Hope, Heartbreak, and Miracles with New York's Bird People

McGrath, an Albany author and journalist, discusses this book about how a small group of New York biologists brought the peregrine falcon and bald eagle back from the brink of extinction. The Adirondack Council wrote of her work, "McGrath weaves together science, politics, personal struggle, and the emotional gravity of permanent loss into poignant tales of survival."

Aug. 16—Book Review

The Death of Caesar: The Story of History's Most Famous Assassination by Barry Strauss

Hans-Friedrich Mueller, Union College professor of ancient and modern languages, reviews the book that The Boston Globe said "teases apart this paramilitary operation of 60 or more conspirators and, in reporting the facts, revokes much of Shakespeare's poetic license in 'Julius Caesar.'"

Aug. 23—Book Review

Climate Shock: The Economic Consequences of a Hotter Planet by Gernot Wagner & Martin L. Weitzman

Nature said the authors "deliver a high-voltage shock in their analysis of the costs of climate change" in this book reviewed by Mark Lowery, of the NYS Department of Environmental Conservation.

Aug. 30—Author Talk

Steve Lobel on Failing My Way to Success: Life Lessons of an Entrepreneur

Lobel discusses his business failures and successes in his career as an entrepreneur, "angel investor," and philanthropist. Many know him as the former owner of gourmet food market Cowan & Lobel, and he now serves as vice president of an independent insurance agency.
